Conference!

The Igala Association USA holds a conference every Labor Day weekend to discuss ways to improve life for their people back home. Last year I attended the conference in Chicago, met a lot of Igala people, and introduced my first booklet to them. This year the conference is in Orlando. My second booklet just needs to be formatted. Then I can get it printed and take it with me to Orlando.

Please pray that many of the conference goers will want to buy these story books in their own language to read to their children.

Blessings!
