They speak of the glorious splendor of your majesty—
and I will meditate on your wonderful works.
They tell of the power of your awesome works—
and I will proclaim your great deeds.
They celebrate your abundant goodness and joyfully sing of your righteousness.

Psalm 145:5-7 New International Version

Dear Friends,

How surprising are the works of the Lord!

- When I returned from Nigeria, a large donation to the Igala Language Project was waiting for me -- from a fellow “missionary kid.” It is enough to fund a full day of work on the project each week for a year!
- My boss at my regular job is a Christian, supportive and understanding. He is happy to let me reduce my hours at work so that I may work a whole day each week on the project.
- Isaac Ogohi in Nigeria emailed me today with more great news. He had used our fable and Bible story booklet at a recent pastors' seminar to teach them – I'm still stunned – how to get the main idea from a Bible passage! He adds, “some persons shed tears while I was reading the story of Joseph. The seminar went very well. It was the best we've ever had and my teaching went well too.”
- The tears! Did the tears come because God's Word was taught well, because hearts were tender with experience, because the story was so movingly told in Igala? Whatever the reasons, I am thrilled that our little booklet was there.

Thank you for your part in the booklet: your prayers, your faith, your encouragement, your support!

With thanksgiving in my heart,

Esther Nordman, Director
