Follow the path that the Lord your God has traced for you, so that you may live, prosper, and enjoy long life on the land you will possess. Deuteronomy 5:33

As mentioned in the biblical text, we have moved forward in our ministry. The Lord has given us a good time and we want to tell you what is happening with our students.

Course for Sunday School Teachers

We shared an orality workshop, teaching how to narrate Bible stories to children, using creative materials. Two girls participated in the teaching and they also learned how to tell stories. It was a great blessing.

Youth Leadership

One more blessed experience was this third workshop for youth leaders. This time we focused on understanding the gospel and its importance for evangelism in young people.

Pastry Course

One of the students prepared one of the recipes and shared photos of the process via her cell phone. Soon one of her aunts replied that she wanted to buy everything she had made! What impressed the student was that her aunt came from far away to buy the product. "I am very grateful to God because he gave me the opportunity to learn from what you teach us. Little by little I am making progress, and I am very happy."

This is a testimony of one of our students. God is taking away economic limitations and now the women are discovering that the Lord is helping them.

TRAINING AMONG INDIGENOUS PEOPLE

Expository preaching

This course has been a very big challenge for each student. They are learning to form a sermon and then deliver it. It is not easy, but something nice is to see the effort and the confidence with which they do it. As a teacher I felt very good since the foundations of the sermons were all biblical and this was reflected in their delivery. I thank God for the students and the work He is doing in them.

Thanks from CEI

Every course we teach we see how students advance, not only in knowledge, but also in their personal lives. They discover that they can achieve more than they believed, and that God has a purpose for them.

We are very grateful for what is happening among indigenous communities.

Children in the Indigenous territory Bribri las Brisas

Children in this community are vulnerable. They are exposed to situations that can mark their lives for good or evil. Each family transmits their values, and the children grow up with these values. Some children have the opportunity to study, but others are left adrift with very little family interest in progressing, even when opportunities are presented to them. We pray that through the Christian church in these communities where CEI works we can arouse interest and make families aware of seeking those opportunities for their children.
